We are very proud of our crew chiefs, they are critical to our success. Many homeowners tend to focus mainly on the product and ignore the importance of a quality installation. Even the best window, if measured poorly and installed incorrectly will never provide the end result you are hoping for. HomeStar uses no subcontractors and follows a rigid training program from apprentice to crew chief. Every skill starting with safety training, job site preparation, proper use of tools, transporting glass, installing product plumb, level and square, clean up etc. are carefully monitored and passed off before graduating to crew chief. We feel confident that you will enjoy having them in your home.
